We do this by:

- Regularly setting and reviewing OHS objectives and targets to ensure continual improvement.
- Monitoring our processes and performance to ensure we are meeting standards set by legislation, regulation and standards.
- Documenting all policies, processes and procedures relating to OH&S activities, and making these documents available to interested parties where necessary.
- Providing relevant training to all personnel.
- Providing employees the opportunity to consult with management about assessing and controlling workplace hazards.
- Conducting regular inspections of the workplace, aimed at identifying and controlling hazards to prevent incidents from occurring.
- Making sure all employees, contractors and visitors are aware of their own responsibilities in providing a safe workplace environment.
- Making sure appropriate workplace rehabilitation is available to all injured or ill employees, ensuring their safe and early return to work.
